

BRASS TACKS HEALTH

Analyst/Senior Analyst

Job Description

Brass Tacks Health is a boutique strategic consultancy that partners with clients to advance technologies and therapies that are poised to make healthcare better. From start-ups to top pharma companies to hospitals, and from new product planning to life cycle management, we use evidence-based market planning and rigorous analytics, fueled by primary market insights, to give these technologies the best opportunity for commercial success in highly competitive environments.

Our greatest asset is our people.

We value individual initiative, new ideas and collaboration.

The successful candidate will hold a leadership role in analyses and project management across multiple indications (mostly focused in oncology).

Responsibilities

- Conduct market research and/or desk research and derive insights.
- Exchange complex medical & scientific information with physicians and scientists.
- Develop a thorough understanding of each disease state, competitive products, market dynamics and regulatory and commercialization pathways (global).
- Compile relevant medical and scientific data into actionable reports and deliver these both internally and to clients.
- Develop valued and productive scientific relationships with Opinion Leaders (OLs) and other disease experts.
- Maintain clinical, scientific, and technical expertise in specific therapeutic areas; review scientific journals, attend scientific and key technical meetings.
- Triangulate between multiple data sources to build and defend key take-aways and underlying assumptions.
- Continuously monitor emerging scientific data to identify and forecast impactful events and client knowledge gaps.
- Prepare presentation materials.
- Develop client relationships and serve as a key point of contact on aspects of projects.
- Take the lead on providing client and internal teams with project status updates.
- Manage collection, shape and prioritization of client needs.
- Lead project work stream and adherence to best practices.
- Take ownership of project status and act as escalation path for clients when necessary.
- Work collaboratively with team members.
- Think strategically.

Qualifications

- Masters in Science with 1 - 3 years of experience working in a related field.
- PharmD, PhD, RN or MD preferred.
- Must have an excellent attention to detail and an affinity for action.
- Self-starter with an entrepreneurial spirit.
- Ability to effectively build relationships and work with physicians OL's.
- Knowledge of FDA drug regulations.
- Strong writing skills a plus.

To apply, please send cover letter and resume to Eileen@brasstackshealth.com
Looking forward to hearing from you!